What's New in the EMailer?

eMailer is a lightweight and simple text based eMail client. This includes such functionality as the viewing and sending of eMails and Mailing List. This is an excellent way to email one or more contacts for various reasons. Below is a list of features that make eMailer special You don't need any special Internet Browser software to view eMails. Email can be sent to multiple recipients at once. Reads, transfers and sends simple text files, including HTML, DOC, PPT and PDS files. E-mail to a single recipient works in a similar manner to the Outlook program, making it simple to write out your message. You can attach an unlimited number of files to an eMail, be it a photo, document, a voice message, or a video clip. Attachments can be sent automatically with a separate eMail sent to the person who will receive the attachment. If the eMail is sent to a single recipient, the attachment is stored in the recipient's mailbox. eMailer is included with XP as an optional application in XP 64-bit. Email List Server: While using eMailer, you can send eMail to a list of eMail addresses, which are stored in an address book, and are read from a file. The purpose of an email list is to enable you to efficiently email a list of eMail addresses to enable you to send an eMail to all the people on the list. As it will be sending the eMail to multiple eMail addresses, the eMail has to be built, formatted, and sent in a particular way. In addition, a recipient can be expected to receive hundreds or even thousands of eMails on a daily basis. Therefore, we suggest that you use the address book to create a list of email addresses and address book is installed by default on your computer eMailer will send out an eMail whenever the "Send List" is activated, and will not send out an eMail to every single eMail address that is contained in the eMail list. eMail List Server: eMail List Server: An eMail List Server is a tool that will allow you to create a list of eMail addresses and read the address book to create eMail list, if you do not have an eMail address book on your computer.
