* Some popular Photoshop features include: • Removing red-eye from faces by isolating the area from a portrait that shows the eye directly or by cropping out the eye. • Adding a glossy, metallic, or patterned finish by creating a reflection layer and applying the layer properties in the Effects panel (see below). • Retouching an image to remove blemishes, improve skin tones, or soften edges. • Creating a cross-processed image, which is called cross-processed because the process is applied before or after the image is developed. Photoshop can cross process in a single pass, meaning that you can alter the image once, print it, and make adjustments again if necessary. • Adding a layer or layers that contain a text effect, such as the text outline. •

Adjusting colors or making corrections to colors such as making them too bright or too dark. • Applying masking to create transparency and transparency effects, layer adjustment options, or layers from another image. • Creating a grunge or posterized effect. • Applying specialized effects to combine multiple layers into one layer. * The majority of tutorials and courses are created using the full version of Photoshop. However, there are also plenty of free Photoshop tutorials, which generally teach by example and illustrate through tutorials on web pages and various digital magazines. The most recent free Photoshop tutorials come from the online magazine Digital Photography School (www.dpschool.com). They have many great tutorials on a variety of topics, including topics such as creating a layered panorama.

(WVVA) A Warren County man has been cleared of indecent exposure allegations after a police chase and traffic stop last week. The incident began shortly before 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, September 2, at 208 High Street in New London. Officer Dave Crabtree was on patrol when he observed a vehicle with no license plate traveling without a front license plate. The vehicle was a Ford F-150 truck. The truck's driver began to drive away and turned onto Church Street. Officer Crabtree followed the truck and pulled behind it. The truck's driver stopped in the lot at West Virginia National Park in Weston, but started to drive again. When the driver of the truck saw the patrol car, he stopped and again turned onto Church Street. Officer Crabtree pulled his patrol car onto the shoulder of Church Street, blocking the truck's path. Then, the truck pulled a few inches closer to the patrol car and the officer saw the driver struggling to drive a plate of some kind. The officer approached the driver of the truck, who was R.B. Hudson, and asked him for his driver's license. When Hudson gave
